Wedding Catalogue

your life, as fine art

You've invested your time and heart into designing each detail, both big and small, of your day to create a wedding unique to your love.

My fine art approach to photography means that I photograph with intention. I don't just want you to be my "client"; my desire is to get to know you so that I am able to organically tell your love story through beautiful, timeless imagery.

It is my heart's desire that my images become your family heirlooms; to be cherished for years to come by those you love most.
